SAETY AND PONDS

- Safety with water and electricity should always be a factor when planning a pool
- Consider flat smooth areas with nothing to trip over
- Paths should be made to service the pond edge and surrounding rockeries
- Small fences should be installed to prevent children accessing the pond - possibly safety grids or purpose built metal ones
- All electrics should be done by a qualified electrician
- All external wiring must be protected by a Residual Circuit Breaker (RCD) with a trip current of no higher rating than 30 milliamps
- All external wiring if not armoured should be in conduit. If buried it should be at the regulation depth - recommended 500mm and warning tape installed over the top. Always allow for future installations and replacements use 25mm or larger conduit.
